

2017 AWARD DESCRIPTIONS

The intent of the Equine Distance Riding Association (EDRA) Award Program is to recognize and celebrate achievements requiring significant effort by both rider and horse while encouraging the humane treatment of equine participants and supporting their longevity in our sport. EDRA promotes the competitive aspects of distance riding and defines “compete” as an ardent desire to succeed. We recognize and support members who may have a wide variety of competitive goals – whether they prepare their equine partner to out-perform other participants, or enable their equine partner to complete distances – ride-after-ride, year-after-year.

The organization offers a variety of awards – some of which are based upon the number of miles ridden or rides completed. Winning one of these awards may not necessarily require extensive speed, but durability is a significant factor. Other awards are based upon points accumulated and we consider these awards to represent truly remarkable riders and horses. Bonus points can be accrued through faster placement finishes and successfully completing longer distance events. Regardless of the type of award offered, riders are strongly encouraged to carefully prepare their horse for the challenge they’re striving to achieve.

The following requirements apply to all awards:

- Awards are available to members of the Equine Distance Riding Association (EDRA) and horses ridden by EDRA members.
- EDRA membership is required to be eligible for our award program. Miles, completions and/or points are not accumulated retroactively. However, for the 2017 ride season, an individual’s membership will include a three-month grace period from the date of the first ride in the 2017 season. The grace period ends July 15, 2017.
- The awards cycle covers the EDRA ride season (January 1 through December 31).
- For award calculation purposes, EDRA recognizes EDRA endorsed events and events covered by organizations where an active reciprocity agreement is in place. (Currently only Endurance Riders Association of British Columbia has an active reciprocity agreement with EDRA.)
- For events covered by a reciprocity agreement, the EDRA member or applicable ride manager must submit ride results information to the current EDRA VP at vp@equinedistanceriding.com no later than 30-days from the date of the ride, unless results are not available at that time. When ride results are not available within this 30-day period, it is the EDRA member’s responsibility to contact the ride manager to secure information as to when the ride results will be available and to notify the current EDRA VP at vp@equinedistanceriding.com of the situation. All ride results should be submitted within 30 days of the event unless prior arrangements have been made.

Rider age is determined as of January 1 of each year for the applicable ride season. Age divisions are defined as:

- Adult Division – age 18 and older
- Youth Division<sup>1</sup> – under age 18, sponsored and supervised by Senior riders during the event

Members compete in one of three weight classes. Weight class determination is based upon member self-declaration at the time of membership or membership renewal. Weight class divisions are defined as:

<sup>1</sup> Youth with 1,000 or more completed lifetime miles and written parental consent which has been accepted and approved by EDRA, may ride without adult supervision and maintain their status in the Youth Division.

- Weight Class I – Combined rider and tack weight of 170 or fewer pounds
- Weight Class II – Combined rider and tack weight of 171 pounds to 200 pounds
- Weight Class III – Combined rider and tack weight of 201 or more pounds

There are three major categories of awards offered by EDRA:

1. Awards that recognize the mileage successfully accumulated.
2. Awards that recognize the number of events successfully completed.
3. Awards that recognize the number of points successfully accumulated.

Awards recognize individual equines, individual riders and explicit pairings of one horse, one rider teams.

Ray was purchased by the Summers' at a local auction because his pace was just too fast for his job in a pack string. His stamina and speed were put to effective use in endurance, compiling over 5,500 miles, completing 85% of the 100-milers he entered with the majority in top-10 standings. This is a milestone award and is based on the quantity of one-day 100-mile EDRA recognized completions over the lifetime of the horse's distance career. Milestones are acknowledged at 100 (the first), 300, 500, 800, and 1,000 miles. 8. Wayfarer	Some of us are lucky to have a special equine who has carried us for ages, year-after-year, over thousands of miles. Others have equines that have conquered multiple longer distance rides across the country. Riding in the dark, in inclement weather, through challenging trails — building connection between an equine and its human partner. This award recognizes the special, unique connection that develops over time and miles between hard-working and dedicated humans and their equally hard-working equine partners. It is about devotion and persistence, figuring out what works, and just getting the job done as a team. We also wanted to honor an EDRA member who symbolizes this connection and Lois Fox immediately emerged as the candidate. But which horse? Lois doesn't have just one horse that fits the description — she has had three: Colt 45 (aka Fiver). This mare was Lois' main partner for 13 years (1986-1999) and they accumulated 4,395 miles. Next was Iced Mocha with the duo currently having amassed 4,445 miles. And then Rustie, her highest mileage horse of all: 5,180 miles, thus far. These are all formidable accomplishments with a deep bond between rider and horse. In the end, there was no way to choose between these three horses. So, the Wayfarers Award memorializes the achievements of Lois Fox and Fiver, Mocha, and Rustie. They inspire us to Start Ready and Finish Proud. This is a milestone award recognizing the explicit pairing of one horse and one rider and is based on successful EDRA event completions, over a multi-year period. The intent of the award is to encourage less experienced riders to become proficient at managing their equine partner in a manner that enables the horse to continue in the sport for an extensive period, as well as recognize experienced riders who focus on equine longevity in the sport. The duo must complete at least four EDRA recognized events of any distance each ride season. Years do not need to be consecutive. Milestones are acknowledged for years two through ten and then for each five-year increment thereafter (e.g., fifteen, twenty years, etc.).	All who qualify

Depending on the relay distance, a team may consist of two rider/horse pairings, up to four rider/horse pairings. Additionally, a rider/horse pairing may be on more than one relay team. Only miles from successfully completed relays are counted toward this award. The shortest cumulative ride time on completed relays breaks any tie.	2
14. Best in Class	This award seeks to recognize the horse who represents the best in distance riding. For each ride in which a horse is awarded Best in Class (BC), the horse will accumulate BC points toward this award equal to the distance entered. (E.g., a horse winning BC on a 50-mile event will earn 50 points, one winning a 30-mile BC will earn a corresponding 30 points.) The horse with the highest accumulated BC points at the end of the ride season is recognized. Mettle Relay Vet's Choice honors are not included in the computation of this award.	1
